FROM: Mr. Jesse Hill
TO: Public Disclosure Commission of Washington state
RE: disclosure complaints against
-A- candidate Paul Pastor, Jr. (for Pierce county sheriff) and -B- Cascade Regional Blood Services, d/b/a Tacoma-Pierce County Blood Bank

I wish to make formal and official complaint against Paul Pastor, Jr. for failing to report receiving two "In-Kind" contributions.

I also wish to make format and official complaint against the Cascade Regional Blood Services ("CRBS") organization, doing business as TACOMA-PIERCE COUNTY BLOOD BANK, for their failing to report giving the same "In-Kind" contributions.

I estimate the value of the billboard-promotion contribution at $10,000.
I estimate the value of the newspaper ad-promotion contribution at $5,000.

BACKGROUND:

The office of Sheriff of Pierce County is now elected, by charter amendment two years ago. In 2006, the candidate announced concurrent with the amendment results that he was running for office.

>> [see Exhibit 'F']

All three candidates, including myself, filed in the first week of June of this year. The race is an historic "Ranked-Choice Voting" position; it also is non-partisan.

Cascade Regional Blood Services is a tax-exempt 501(c)(3) organization, recognized by the I.R.S.

Shillito & Giske, P.S. is the law firm which represents CRBS; it also has donated to the candidate.

>> [see Exhibit 'E']

The News Tribune is a daily regional newspaper, and is an innocent participant.

ClearChannel Corporation is an outdoor billboard marketer, and is an innocent participant.

Starting in June and ending in September, CRBS bought ads in The News Tribune.

>> [see Exhibit 'A']

Starting in June and ending in September, CRBS bought billboard space with ClearChannel Corp.

>> [see Attachment 'I']

Ongoing promotion on their website "www.cascadebloodcenters.org" CRBS continues to promote the candidate.

>> [see Exhibit 'B']

The candidate replied to an online blog entry of June 3rd by columnist Cheryl Tucker of The News Tribune; and fails to state that he has taken action to avoid an ethical conflict. Instead, he emphasizes and contradicts his running for office.

>> [see Exhibit 'C']

The Voters' Pamphlet of the Pierce County Auditor (Elections Division) is produced a few weeks before absentee ballots go out, but statements from candidate are required to be submitted by June 9th. Thus, the reference to CRBS in the candidate's statement was concurrent & timely to his awareness of the impropriety of the ads.

ARGUMENT:

I believe that Pastor and CRBS and Shillito & Giske conspired and/or colluded together prior to June, 2008 to provide a way to give publicity to the "incumbent" in a race where he has little name recognition and face-recognition. Although the $100 donation (in PDC document #100,256,776) seems small, it is a mere token, a symbol of a large scheme, for the Present, the Past, and most concernably, the Future. Out of hundreds of people the organization could have picked, it chose one (of four) that happens to be running for office. And the ads for the candidate happen to have his name and title in them when the others don't. And the time frame happens to be during an election season.

I estimate the value of the newspaper ads at $5,000; but a full accounting from the publisher is necessary for a complete filing.

I estimate the value of the billboard ads at $ 10,000; but a full accounting from publisher is necessary for a complete filing.

I recommend a small, token Fine against each entity for their dual failure to disclose after they were given notice of the possible necessity.

SUPPLEMENT:

I am filing an independent complaint with the I.R.S. against Cascade Regional Blood Services for inappropriate lobbying and political activity.

I am filing a separate complaint with the Washington State Bar Association against the lawfirm Shillito & Giske for their inappropriate actions.

Affidavit

I, Jesse Hill, certify under penalty of perjury under the laws of Washington State that the facts set forth in this declaration are true and correct.

Some time during the last week of September, 2008 I saw a billboard ad similar to the one in Exhibit 'B' of my October 21st complaint to the Public Disclosure Commission, with picture and name of Sheriff Paul Pastor, Jr.. (www.cascadebloodcenters.org/our_community/saves.htm)

This billboard was on the southeast corner of Sixth Avenue and Ainsworth. It faced to the west, towards people and traffic travelling east.
